

PRESS RELEASE – New Appointment

March 10, 2025

Keir Brown joins Eye In The Sky team as General Manager

Industry Announcement – New General Manager at Eye in the Sky

Eye in the Sky is pleased to announce the appointment of Keir Brown as General Manager. With a strong background in aviation sales and business development, Keir will be leading the company's efforts to drive sales growth and accelerate the evolution of cockpit video recording technology.

As the aviation industry continues to prioritise safety, training, and operational oversight, Eye In The Sky remains committed to delivering cutting-edge video and flight data recording solutions. Under Keir's leadership, the company will focus on expanding its market presence and advancing its next-generation recording systems to meet the evolving needs of operators worldwide.

Attendees of Verticon in Dallas next week will have the opportunity to connect with Keir and discuss the future of cockpit video solutions. This event serves as a great platform to engage with industry leaders and explore innovative technologies shaping the future of aviation safety.

Eye In The Sky specializes in advanced cockpit video and flight data recording solutions, providing insights that enhance operational efficiency, pilot training, and flight safety. The company's mission as the #1 aviation and performance super tool is to set the benchmark for video-based flight monitoring technology.

For those attending Verticon, be sure to connect and learn more about how Eye in the Sky is driving innovation in this space. See you in Dallas at Booth 3406
