

The National EMS Pilots Association (NEMSPA) is pleased to announce the appointment of Gabe Sheeran as President of the Board of Directors.

NEMSPA is excited to announce the appointment of Gabe Sheeran as President of the Board of Directors. Gabe has served on the NEMSPA Board for two years, joining the board to help promote the expansion of the FAA Weather Camera system. He has been flying EMS for six years in Ticonderoga, NY in the EC135, Bell 407, and EC145.

Gabe is succeeding Brett Reeder, who has led NEMSPA for two years. Under Brett's leadership, NEMSPA has filled our board of directors, and focused on initiatives that will benefit our community, such as the promotion and installation of new FAA weather camera stations. He has worked tirelessly to promote our organization and keep lines of communication open within the industry. Brett will remain active on the board of directors.

Formed in 1984, the National EMS Pilots Association, otherwise known as "NEMSPA" is a professional pilot's association dedicated to giving a voice to pilots working in the air-medical transport industry. What began as a small group of pilots seeking to improve safety data has evolved into a national authority that collaborates with the FAA, CAMTS, and industry stakeholders to improve the air medical work environment.
